On 9 and 10/5/2016 took place in the beautiful city of Ferrara, Italy in the premises of the University of Ferrara, the 2nd International Meeting for the European project “Better e-learning for all”.

All the partners participated in the meeting and examined in details the progress of the project. Also they confirmed the work that each partner has to complete until the next meeting which will take place in Athens, Greece next October. Among others it was decided that a questionnaire will be developed until June and will be distributed mainly among e-learning students and e-learning providers and of course to all of you aiming to collect and analyze opinions about the reasons for “drop out” from an e-learning course.

The results of the analysis will provide to the partnership with the necessary information in order to develop a very useful tool for those who are planning to offer in the future e-learning activities, in order to minimize the “drop out” rates.

We are expecting your answers to the questionnaire because your contribution to our efforts was and remain very important for us. All the information about the project, its progress and its outcomes are and will be regularly uploaded either on the website of the project (www.better-e.eu) or on our website (www.dian.gr) in Greek and in English.

For any additional information, you may contact the DIAN’s EU projects Coordinator or the Administrator and the Researchers of this project.
